

RED CROSS PLAN FOR CANVASS TO BE READY SOON

Workers to Meet Tomorrow and Pick Committees for Roll Call.

MATERIAL IS HERE

November 11 to 26 Is Time for National Movement; Changes Made.

At a meeting of county Red Cross officials in the office of the secretary some time Tuesday, specific plans will be laid for an intensive annual roll call to enlist members in the county organization and preserve the Pontotoc charter.

Tomorrow, which was tentatively set as a date for the drive, will see only a complete organization of forces for it and the roll call itself probably will not be taken before Friday on account of the vast amount of work ahead for committees, officials pointed out Monday.

The enlistment of forces, principal of which will be committee men to cover all parts of the city and county, will constitute principal business to be carried out at the meeting Tuesday.

T. B. Blake, who was appointed county chairman for the roll call at a joint meeting of Red Cross officials with the Norman Howard post of the American Legion last week, has provisionally accepted the post, it was understood today, under the specification that all committees assigned were to work willingly in the roll call so that the entire responsibility will not fall on any single person.

Workers Optimistic.

Optimism, in spite of prevailing conditions, seemed to pervade the ranks of Red Cross officials today on the verge of tomorrow's organization for the roll call. Business men have been urged to lay aside all their prejudices of any nature and lend their unstinted support to the movement which, it was pointed out, is in the interest of the entire community.

No quota has been set for the county. With the big issue at stake of the threatened cessation of Red Cross activities in the county it case no finances are contributed to ward supporting the Red Cross workers will go out to roll up the biggest total possible. Full equipment for the roll call, including information, posters, Red Cross badges, and other material has been received by Mrs. Orville Chad county secretary, who has been keeping open office day and night of late for the purpose of rounding out business of the old year and opening on the new year's program.

A tremendous increase in the amount of soldier and civilian relief with the coming of winter makes it almost imperative that the Red Cross office function all the time, Mrs. Chad declared.

THREE MEN ARE TAKEN TO STATE PENITENTIARY

Sheriff Bob Duncan returned this morning from McAlester where he took three Pontotoc county men, Ed Stewart, Charles Thompson, and Jack Hart, to the state penitentiary. Stewart is under conviction in two cases, automobile theft and bank robbery, and sentenced to 10 years. Charles "Shorty" Thompson is also under conviction for bank robbery and will do 10 years.

Jack Hart confessed to bad check charges and was sentenced to a year and a day.

MAN LONG BLIND IS STARTLED BY MODERN SIGHTS

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13.—Rip Van Winkle came back after twenty years and marvelled at the villagers grown old. His shock was nothing to that of James Petty, 60, who after 32 years of darkness, had sight restored to him by an operation here and saw for the first time.

Women and girls in knee length dresses and rolled down hose.

Buildings towering twenty stories.

Carriages without horses and street cars without mules.

Electric signs, movie theaters, tight skirts and rouged cheeks.

When led to the street from the physician's office where a cataract had been pilled from one eye, one of his first exclamations was:

"Why they do wear 'em to their knees. I had heard they did, but I couldn't believe it."

Petty said his next greatest shock was when he looked in the mirror. All human beings disappointed him in appearance.

"They are not as good looking as they used to be," he said.

He constantly marvelled at the beauties of the material world.

"Everything is so beautiful, so clear and so close," he said again and again.

All objects, including automobiles, seemed twice as big as Petty had expected. All sights, he says, appear to be crushed in upon him.

Petty came to Kansas City for his operation from Colville, Wash., where he is an official in the State training school for boys. He is the author of a book on juvenile welfare work.

BRITAIN RESTS ON SHIPMAKING ACTIVITY NOW

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Shipbuilding returns for the quarter ended September 30, issued by Lloyd's Register indicate that the shipbuilding industry is slackening up considerably.

For the quarter, 3,282,972 tons of British merchant tonnage were under construction, or 247,000 tons less than the previous quarter and 448,000 tons below the tonnage building 12 months ago. The figures for the quarter, however, include 731,000 tons on which work has been suspended and 457,000 tons delayed in completion.

The tonnage commenced during the quarter only amounted to 51,143 tons or a decline of 455,000 tons on the corresponding quarter last year, which, the report says, is perhaps the most significant figure in the return as indicating the very unfavorable outlook for the immediate future.

The total tonnage building abroad is given as 2,260,000 tons including 375,000 tons upon which work is suspended. The countries where the largest amount of work is suspended are Italy and the United States.

Radium valued at $10,000 was inserted in an incision made in a patient at the City Hospital at Hamilton, Ont., recently. Next morning, upon examination, the doctors found that the radium had disappeared. The patient was unable to give any information concerning the theft.

Formidable American Fleet Under Way Makes Disarming Knotty Issue

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The American naval building program, which is now stands bears an important relation to the problem confronting the Armament conference. It is interesting to review it.

About 100,000 tons in capital ships will be added to the Navy next year even under reduced appropriations. Included are three new battleships of the Maryland class, 21-knot ships carrying eight 16-inch 45-caliber rifles each and all oil burning, long cruising radius craft. They are the Colorado now 80 percent finished, the Washington, 70 percent, and the West Virginia, 62 percent. Four light cruisers also will be finished next year but do not figure importantly in the question of naval armaments.

Building far progressed. Construction of these ships has reached a point where there is said to be little chance they will be affected by any conclusions reached by the arms conference. Behind them, however, is progressing, very slowly with funds now available, the building of a formidable fleet of big ships. In this group are six 13,000-ton battleships, to carry main batteries of twelve 16-inch, 50-caliber rifles and have a speed of 23.25 knots; and six battle cruisers armed with eight 16-inch rifles and with a speed of 33.25 knots. The battle cruisers originally were designed to make 35 knots but were replanned with heavier batteries and increased side-armament and resultant reduction in speed.

Three of these larger battleships are about one third built while the others range down to 10 percent finished. The delivery date of all is marked "indefinite" in navy books. The battle cruisers are from 10 to 25 percent finished except one, the keel of which has not been laid.

With other craft of a more or less auxiliary nature for this backbone of heavy ships, the American building program as it now stands, includes 69 ships with an aggregate of 734,928 tons. If a number and tonnage ratio be applied to make a comparison with other building programs which will play a part in the arms conference, the figures on the best data available here would be:

Great Britain, 13 ships building, aggregating 49,000 tons, and a project as yet uncertain for four new battle cruisers aggregating 176,000 tons.

Japan, 85 ships building aggregating 895,000 tons.

To Be Finished in 1927.

With all of these programs finished in 1927, the relative figures in first line ships would be about as follows: Great Britain, 22 ships, 883,650 tons; United States, 27 ships, 983,000 tons; Japan, 24 ships, 865,000 tons. The British would have 22 first line dreadnaughts and 10 modern battle cruisers, United States 21 dreadnaughts and 6 battle cruisers; Japan 12 dreadnaughts and 12 battle cruisers.

Grouped in this way, the difficulty in measuring off these forces against each other for the purpose

ENGLAND TAKES AMERICAN PLAN CONDITIONALLY

Japs Also Agree "In Principle" On Scheme For Naval Disarming.

BALFOUR TO REPLY

New Diplomatic Terms Are Introduced Into Deliberations of Parley.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Great Britain's acceptance "in principle" of the American proposal for the limitation of naval armaments was definitely forecasted today in a statement on behalf of the British delegation.

Japan's acceptance "in principle" at least has been forecasted by statements by Baron Admiral Kato and others of the Japanese delegation.

Great Britain's principal consideration, it is understood in framing the reply which Mr. Balfour will make tomorrow, has been the question of what was to be done to bring France and Italy within the scope of the plans for limitations. The American delegation, it is said, impressed their British colleagues with the advisability of first disposing of the question as it affects the three principals. The United States, Great Britain and Japan.

Great Britain's acceptance of the general plan of Japan's sympathetic attitude was openly forecasted Saturday after the delivery of Secretary Hughes' remarkable presentation, but it remains for a spokesman, speaking for Arthur Balfour, head of the British delegation, to give officially the outline of the coming developments.

Mr. Balfour, it was announced, will address the second convention of the conference session tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, and at that time bespeak Great Britain's adherence to the fundamentals of the proposal laid down in behalf of the American delegates by Secretary Hughes.

"Acceptance in principle" is a diplomatic phrase, which while marking an important milestone in an international negotiation, does not by any means insure its conclusion in the original form.

Acceptance in principle in this case is taken by observers to mean that Great Britain will not close her acceptance finally until the conference has proceeded to a conclusion in the case of France and Italy and it may indeed be after the discussions on the developments of the discussions in far eastern affairs. Great Britain's acceptance in principle, however, is regarded as a long step towards the success of the conference along the lines laid down by the American delegation.

He Captains Squad

Charles ('Chuck') Canning

Sport events here this season have been confined, for the most part, to the operations of the football team of Ada High school. Except for the Okmulgee game, Ada has not lost a conference game. Among leading men on the team is the Captain Charles ('Chuck') Canning, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Canning of 102 East Sixteenth street. Charles is playing his fourth and last year of high school football.

"Chuck" made his appearance on the gridiron three years ago. He was then only fourteen years old and played but little football. His interest in the game was rewarded with a position in the back field. He has held a place there for three years, and has been playing this season as captain and fullback. His game has been confined to half and fullback work. He played at half last season and his berth was not contested after it was assigned. Canning is considered by local fans as the best broken field runner on the team.

When more than 35 students reported for football practice this year Coach Cox, who has had charge of athletics at the high school for the past two years, looked over his material and immediately selected Canning for the fullback position. "Chuck's" record in the past won him the place and his ability to hold it has been well demonstrated in several games of the season.

Canning's absence from the team next year will be a serious blow to the eleven and Coach Cox's only hope is to secure a man from present available material who will develop enough this season to fill the gap. Ada High school this season has a number of grid stars but Canning is among the few who distinctly stand out as real players.

ARBUCKLE TRIAL IS DUE TO OPEN IN HIGH COURT

"I Am Dying, He Hurt Me," Alleged Last Words of Pretty Actress.

TRAGEDY WAS SEPT. 9

Nurses Accuse Funny Fatty of Injuring Miss Rappe At Pajama Party.

(By the Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, was to go on trial today on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death September 9 of Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress.

Arbuckle occupied a prison cell here for eighteen days accused of the murder of the girl, until Police Judge Sylvain J. Lazarus reduced the charge to manslaughter and allowed him his freedom on $5,000 bail.

Miss Rappe's death September 9 from a ruptured bladder was the outcome of a drinking party she attended in Arbuckle's suite at the Hotel St. Francis the afternoon of September 5. On this occasion, according to testimony in the police court hearing, Arbuckle and Lowell Sherman, another moving picture actor, were clothed in dressing gowns and pajamas or athletic underwear while Mrs. Bambina Delmont who swore to the murder complaint against the comedian also donned pajamas during the gayety.

Found Suffering.

When Miss Rappe retired from the room while the festivities were in progress, according to the testimony, Arbuckle followed her and about an hour later, two of the women, Mrs. Delmont and Zeh Prevost, found her in distress in an adjoining room, the door of which was opened by Arbuckle in response to their knocks.

"I am dying. He hurt me," cried Miss Rappe, according to testimony of Miss Prevost and Alice Blake, who said the girl was lying on a bed fully clothed but tearing at her garments as she moaned and tossed. Arbuckle told her to "shut up or he would throw her out of the window," they said, and used her in an attempt to restore her fully to consciousness.

Miss Rappe was taken to another room in the hotel and next day removed to a hospital where she remained until her death. Hospital nurses testified at the inquest that she accused Arbuckle of having injured her, but this testimony was not introduced at the police court hearing.

Murder Charge Dropped.

Nothing was shown at the preliminary hearing, according to Judge Lazarus, to connect Arbuckle with the charge of murder, which was brought under the California statute providing that a life taken in rape or attempted rape is murder. Judge Lazarus declared, however, that Arbuckle's conduct warranted holding him for manslaughter as he might have committed battery.

A grand jury indictment for manslaughter was returned.

"BE HONEST WITH YOURSELF" SAYS FORTUNE MAKER

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 12.—Penniless and uneducated, Charles F. Colcord left his Kentucky home fifty years ago to cast his lot with other seekers of the fabled pot of gold at the end of the rainbow leading toward the west. Eighteen years after, on April 22, 1899, he drove into Oklahoma City a rattap trap wagon, a team of ponies and his motto, "Make Your own conscience with your own word as good as your word." being his only worldly possessions.

Today Colcord counts his fortune in millions of dollars and is active head of three large companies, capitalized at $35,000,000. One is a building and loan company, another an investment company and the third an oil concern.

Hampered because he had only the education of a Texas cow-camp to aid him in his first business ventures, Colcord made his motto his principal stock in trade.

There only is one way to be successful in business," Colcord believes. "That route is to be true to the person you can't fool a bit, the person who knows all about you, every one of your weaknesses and strong points and every little trick you try to play to beat the other fellow out of something—yourself."

"You can go along for years and years—make a financial success at the expense of the one with whom you are dealing, but you'll never be really happy. Your own conscience will spoil the pleasure of eating the feast you so carefully have prepared."

Colcord made his first investment in Oklahoma, and says he expected to make his last here. His home for the past 32 years has been in Oklahoma City.

WAR IS RENEWED BY OFFICERS ON BOOZE TRAFFIC

County officers declared open season on alleged liquor law violators Saturday and Sunday and worked in the county court and in the sheriff's office showed Monday morning a list of five persons who were involved in recent charges.

Rance Jones was returned to the county jail on a commitment on an old whiskey case. Officers said he was convicted some time ago in county court and filed notice of appeal but failed to perfect it within the required time.

Joe Choate was arrested Saturday night and is charged with the possession of liquor. Cole Jobe also was taken on a possession charge. Till Gillman was arrested at Allen by Deputy Sheriff Byars Chapman and will be charged with possession. This is also the case that was filed in the county court Saturday against Cecil Morton.

BIG CROWD AT VANOSS MEETS SCOUT OFFICIALS

Eight cars, carrying members of the Ada High School Boy Scout band, scout officials, and citizens, went to Vanoss Sunday afternoon to conduct a meeting on scout work. A concert by the band was a feature of the program.

Scout Commissioner L. A. Ellison spoke on "The Spirit of Optimism" and Scout Executive Harry W. Miller made a brief speech on scout work in general. Two numbers were given by the local Christian church quartet, composed of Canning, Walters, Parker and Emerson. The auditorium of the new Vanoss school building was filled.

ENGLAND NOT TO BE HARD STRUCK IN NAVY RECESS

Cessation of Building For 10 Years Will Hurt U. S. and Japan Worst.

WILL JAPAN ACCEPT?

Condition Will Place Navy of Little Country in Inferior Ranks.

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The American plan for a ten year naval holiday and the scrapping of all but a limited number of ships, calls for less sacrifice on the part of Great Britain than by the United States and Japan, in the view of the naval correspondent of the Daily Mail. The proposed sacrifice, he says, would be a heavy one for Japan and the United States, but comparatively trifling for Great Britain as the latter has not yet incurred any great expense on the four new ships just ordered. The real question is whether Japan will be content to accept the conditions which places her navy in a position of "permanent inferiority."

Other correspondents point out that Great Britain has already taken the lead in the reduction of armaments. Her progress in scrapping of warships since the armistice has amounted up to last April to more than five hundred vessels, of which three hundred were destroyers.

Hughes Stand Commended.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Secretary Hughes' proposal was characterized last night as "admirable" by William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, who said if adopted, it "will considerably lighten the existing burden of oppressive taxation." The greatest step towards general disarmament and preservation of peace that could possibly be taken, he said, would be the abolition of navies altogether, except for such light craft as may be needed for coast defense purposes.

Purely America's Plan.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—While naval experts of the foreign powers today continued to examine the American proposal for limitation of armaments for navies, heads of the American British, French, Japanese, and Italian delegations conferred to map out a plan of procedure to expeditiously consider the whole armament questions.

American officials emphasized that the plan presented to the conference Saturday by Secretary Hughes was purely an American proposal and that advance knowledge of it had been kept carefully from the representatives of the other powers.

In consequence, it was assumed that several days would be required for the naval advisors of Great Britain and Japan, the powers chiefly concerned, to prepare any estimate of the acceptability of the sweeping American proposals. It was indicated that today's meeting of the five heads of the delegations was not for the purpose of thoroughly considering the plan, but rather was devoted to more or less routine discussion of a method of procedure.

At the state department there was every indication today that the public reaction from the government's first blow stabbed into the conference had been entirely reassuring. Messages of praise and approval came to Secretary Hughes' office by thousands and the White House was deluged likewise with congratulatory expressions on the opening of the conference.

To Give Full Publicity.

A synopsis of the proposal of armament reduction has been sent to American representatives and consular agents throughout the world for such use as they may deem necessary. It was explained to give the negotiations the widest publicity possible.

The head of the delegation of the five principal powers came to the Pan-American building where committees dealing with the American limitation procedure were to meet promptly.

Secretary Hughes was first to arrive, but he was followed by Arthur Balfour, head of the British delegation, and a staff of naval experts of the army and navy; Premier Briand of France with a similar staff; Senior Schanzer, head of the Italian delegation and (Continued on Page Six)

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
GLADNESS IN SERVICE:—Serve the Lord with gladness. Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise; be thankful unto him, and bless him name. For the Lord is good.—Psalm 100:2, 4.

BOOZE RUNNING TRUE TO FORM

Whiskey runners, bootleggers and boozers are running true to form. They are breaking all the laws of God and man just as they did when the law put the stamp of approval on the business and tried to regulate it. As in the days of old, when dealers in booze disregarded all rules of decency and morality, thus forcing good citizens to make more stringent their regulatory measures, so are these same law violators making themselves obnoxious in an effort to prove that prohibition in the United States is impossible of enforcement.

Statistics are not available, but it is safe to say that not 2 percent of the citizens of the United States are interested directly or indirectly in bootleggers or their stock in trade. Yet this small percentage of lawbreakers together with their patrons are partially succeeding in convincing many that the eighteenth amendment was all a mistake and wholly objectionable to the majority of citizens. They do this by giving much publicity to the successful efforts made to disregard the law and by magnifying the number engaged in the traffic and amount of booze consumed. A man with a quart of booze attracts more attention and receives more publicity than a warehouse full of the stuff a few years ago. The fact that somebody has something with a kick in it is widely advertised. Thus do the enemies of good government attempt to nullify a constitutional provision placed in that document by the ratification or more than three-fourths majority of the United States in this Union.

Bootleggers will never succeed in their attempts to bring booze back. A few old timers, many of them good citizens otherwise, patronize them and the riff-raff of the country including a few smart alecks of the younger generation help promote the industry, but the clean, upright citizen is in the majority. A traffic as old as the Nation can not be destroyed in twelve months, but the new crops of drunkards are growing smaller. Soon there will be no crop at all, and booze, will be referred to only by our oldest citizens who spend their time in writing reminiscences of earlier days. Men who crave the cup that cheers but more often results in tears will grow fewer in numbers as the years go by.—Farm and Ranch.

AN AWAKENED PUBLIC.

The time has been when promises in a political campaign could be made and forgotten as soon as the election was over. Regardless of party, this is no longer the case. No party, nor individual can escape from the consequences. President Wilson was re-elected in 1916 on the slogan, "He kept us out of war." He could not continue to keep us out of war, and his party was woefully defeated at the next election. President Taft and his campaigners in 1908 promised to revise the tariff downward; they did not and went down in defeat. In Oklahoma it is a common saying that no man who is now in the State House can be elected governor. It may not be true, but it is a fact that many officers now in the State House promised things they did not and could not do. As a result, there is a general feeling that a change must be made, not a change of party but a change of personnel.

Campaign promises are useless now, if a person has been in public life before. His record is the mirror, and his record and not his promises determines how the voters will cast their ballots.

Who is responsible for this? Possibly the women have something to do with it; possibly it is due to increased intelligence of the general public; perhaps it is a combination of several factors. At any rate it is a healthy sign. A death bed repentance does not get by in politics, as it used to. A new day has come and the prospects for cleaning out the professional politicians, those who are for something for revenue only, are bright.

The person or party who promises more than he given is sowing the wind and will most certainly reap the whirlwind.

In his personal business affairs a man will exercise the greatest possible care in considering the qualifications of an applicant for a position, but in selecting men for public office it is personal popularity or the desire to oblige some friend that too often counts most. And then we wonder why government affairs are not more efficiently managed.

If all property on the tax rolls of Pontotoc county should be sold at its assessed value it would pay only half the cost of a modern battleship. Isn't that some argument in favor of cutting down our armament program?

"WATCHFUL WAITING"

The Forum of the Press

The Betrayal of a Nation. (Farm and Ranch)

The history of the fight to destroy the League of Nations, or at least to make it impotent, is being written much earlier than many politicians anticipated. The motive behind the fight was thought to be successfully hidden in the innermost recesses of the minds of those who conceived the plot and executed it. Crimes against individuals have often remained concealed apparently for all time, but crimes against a Nation are eventually recorded in history. In the case of the League of Nations, the inside facts are being revealed and a record made. The motives of those who met in secret even before all of the contents of that famous document were known to them, and planned its destruction along with the elimination of President Wilson, stand out today as the most damnable and selfish ever conceived in the mind of a politician who places party first and the nation second.

Prior to the receipt of the treaty of Versailles and League of Nations document in this country, but after party leaders had been informed somewhat of its scope, Senators Lodge, Knox, (now deceased) Brandegee and a few other party leaders, met in secret at a pre-arranged dinner party where Senator Lodge presented his plan to restore the Republican party to power. At this dinner Senator Lodge is reported to have said:

"President Wilson has brought back from France the most important state document ever formulated in the history of the world. If the senate of the United States ratifies this League of Nations covenant and treaty of peace, it will be known, heralded and recorded as an achievement of the democratic party. As republicans we can not allow this to occur. For such an instrument of such world-wide importance to be ratified and chronicled as the achievement of a democratic president and a democratic administration would cast a blight on the republican party and its future and would keep us in the background perhaps for years. Our only remedy is to kill the League of Nations and treaty of peace and in order to do this we must eliminate President Wilson."

In this statement Senator Lodge acknowledged the treaty of Versailles and League of Nations as the greatest state document ever formulated in the world. His objection to it was that it was the product of a democratic president and a democratic administration. To him the success of his party was of greater moment than the revival of industry and the promotion of the cause of peace throughout the world. The fact that failure to ratify this treaty would plunge Nations into war; that millions of women and children would suffer the pangs of starvation; that the world would continue in a state of turmoil and that the United States would be placed in a position of renouncing its world obligations, were of little weight as compared with party success.

This editorial is not written in support of the League of Nations or in condemnation of all party leaders, democratic and republican, whose loyalty to party and to their own selfish interests is greater than their loyalty to the Nation itself.

How long will we continue to send men to the United States senate and to the House of Representatives whose only thought is for political power and who subject the welfare of the Nation to whims of leaders who play the game from a professional standpoint and according to rules of a half century ago? Judas Iscariot betrayed Christ for a few pieces of silver. Benedict Arnold surrendered the fortress of West Point to the enemies of his country for a few dollars and a commission of Colonel in the British army. Both acts are condemned by all Christian people. Crimes as black as any recorded in history are committed in the name of Party.

FIVE MILLION YOUNG CHILDREN BADLY FED

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The National Tuberculosis Association reported today that more than 5,000,000 school children in the United States were suffering from malnutrition.

To correct this, the association soon will put into effect a unique plan for instructing these children in correct health habits. The plan has been developed with the aid of Dr. W. R. P. Emerson of Boston, nutrition expert.

Each child will be required through his teacher and parents to submit a card indicating daily performance of 11 health chores. The cards read:

- I was weighed this week on the day checked (x)
- Beside a good breakfast and the noon and evening meals.
- I ate mid-morning and afternoon lunches, as directed.
- I ate only wholesome food today, including vegetables, fruit, and at least a pint of milk, as directed, and tried always to eat and drink slowly.
- I drank four glasses of water, some before each meal, and drank no tea, coffee, nor any injurious drinks.
- I was in bed last night ten or more hours, as directed, windows open.
- I rested lying down not less than 25 minutes both this forenoon and this afternoon.
- I played in the fresh air today.

exercising for the time and in the way directed.
I washed my hands before each meal today.
I brushed my teeth thoroughly after breakfast and after the evening meal.
I took a full bath on each of the days of the week that is checked. (x)

By doing these chores for five to fifteen weeks, the child becomes a squire, knight or knight baronet and is entitled to wear the insignia of the Modern Health Crusade. When he gains normal weight, he may earn advanced honors, by performing standard Modern Health Crusade chores and be admitted to the Health Round Table through physical fitness tests.

OYSTER MAN CAN OPEN 100 IN THREE MINUTES

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Old Bill Lowney, whose life has been devoted to opening oysters, claims that when he split 100 of them in three minutes, three and one-quarter seconds not long ago he established a world record. He has challenged any and all oystermen to meet him in competition with a barrel of bivalves and a knife.

Old Bill was born up Cape Cod way 62 years ago, and he knows the names and records of all the speedy oyster openers along the coast. He has two loves—oysters and the handles he makes for his knives. His hates are those who spoil the flavor of bivalves by dipping them in water, and the uneducated eaters who use knives on them.

ENDEAVOR MEET HERE IS ENDED SUNDAY NIGHT

Trains leaving Ada last night and this morning carried about 50 delegates, from all parts of the Coal District, who were here last week to attend a convention of Christian Endeavor societies of the Christian and Presbyterian churches.

An address last night by Rev. N. P. Patterson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, on the "Four Great Methods" was the convention's closing number, exclusive of a meeting of the new district council. Last sessions of the convention were held in the Christian church.

At 6:30 last night a Christian Endeavor prayer meeting was held. "Bible Examples of Personal Evangelism" by C. C. Low, Durant, was prominent among the numbers given. A union song service, report of committees, installation of officers, and a number by the Durant quartet led up to Dr. Patterson's address. Miss Tephia Folsom, state efficiency superintendent, spoke to the Endeavorers yesterday afternoon on "Knowing How." Other speakers for Sunday afternoon were Rev. H. M. Wood, Ada; Miss Sophia Knezer, Sherman, Tex.; Rev. Ebenezer Hotchkiss, state missionary superintendent, McAlester; and Mrs. Ora Sidwell, Hugo.

A. T. Dickerson, district publicity superintendent, Durant; Miss Stella Hinds, former state secretary, Oklahoma City; Harold R. Singer, Oklahoma field secretary; and R. F. Bevins, Durant, also appeared on yesterday's program. Durant alone sent 14 delegates to the convention.

In The Oil Fields

Estimated production in the fields of the Mid-Continent at the close of the past week was as follows: North Louisiana, 63,075 barrels; Arkansas, 44,200 barrels; North Texas, 146,164 barrels; Kansas, 96,800 barrels; Oklahoma, outside of Cushing, Shamrock, Burbank and Healdton, 203,500 barrels; Cushing and Shamrock, 25,000 barrels; Healdton, 22,000 barrels; Howitt, 41,500 barrels; Burbank, 26,800 barrels; total, 669,039 barrels, a loss of 302 barrels in comparison with the preceding week.

The estimated daily production of heavy gravity oil in the Gulf Coast field was 104,240 barrels.—Oil and Gas Journal.

The National Exploration Company has spudded in for a deep test in section 9-4-7, east of Oakman. An eighteen inch hole was started, which is taken to mean a deep test is to be made. While oil has been found in paying quantities near this test, it was found around 1100 feet. So far as can be determined, no deep test has been made in that part of the county.

Nance Pumping. The Nance well in section 4-4-5 continues to pump very satisfactorily. It is putting oil into the tank and thereby demonstrating it is a good paying proposition.

More Interest Manifested. At least four other wells are to be started in the Bebee country within a comparatively short time, according to rumors around the hotels. Nothing definite has been officially given out, however.

Oil writers and operators throughout the Southwest are now watching developments. The lime formation bearing oil has caused much speculation as to the possibilities, and the time pay production may continue. Thus far all comments are favorable.

Sunday Business of Small Groceries To Stop, Mayor Orders

Practically every owner of a small grocery store, located in residence section or outskirts of the city, was summoned to appear before Mayor Kitchens today to face charges of being open for business on Sunday. This practice among these groceries has been going on for months. Kitchens said.

Mayor Kitchens stated that an ordinance prohibited these stores from opening on Sunday, the same as it prohibited any other store of like nature from being open. The men, when they appeared, were instructed to keep closed on Sunday after this date. No prosecution was opened today, pending the observance of the grocery store owners of the ordinance.

EIGHT BURNED TO DEATH IN FLAMES

Tenement Fire in New York Is Fatal to Many as Families Flee.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—At least eight persons are believed to have been burned to death in a tenement house fire early this morning. Five bodies, all unidentified, were found huddled together near a doorway on the fifth floor of the building, and firemen later found three more bodies, none of which was identified. Two men and one woman were seriously injured, while thirty were treated for burns and shock.

The building, a five story tenement, was occupied by 15 families. The fire originated in the basement and rolled up a shaft to the second floor where it "mushroomed," spreading through the four upper stories of the building. Many of the people who lived in the tenement groped their way to windows, where they clung to ledges and screamed for help. Postoffice employees from a sub-station across the street saved many before firemen reached the scene. On man became exhausted while clinging to a window ledge and fell to the street, suffering a fractured skull.

NEGRO SHOT WHEN GOING OVER BANK

Black Leaps From Flying Train and Is Seriously Hurt by Own Gun.

A negro, whose name cannot be learned, is in a dangerous condition today at the Park tower hotel as a result of being accidentally shot by his own gun when he jumped from a moving train near Tyrola early last night. He told persons who found him, before he became unable to talk, that he had jumped from the train while it was going at high speed and had been thrown down an embankment. It was while he was falling that the gun, which he carried low on his right side, was discharged, sending a bullet into his body. His bowels were punctured three times and the bladder twice.

He was brought to the Ada hospital where an operation was performed. The bullet was removed from where it had lodged in the lower part of the body. According to the negro's story, given in meager details because of the intense pain he came from Texas. He was without money and had come to Ada to look for work. He is thought to have formerly worked with the section crew near Tyrola. Reports from the hotel today are to the effect that he is better and will recover. He lapsed into unconsciousness before his name was learned.

RESTORATION OF MAN FORECAST IN SPEECH HERE

More than 600 persons heard B. M. Rice, of the Brooklyn, N. Y., speak at the McSwain theater Sunday afternoon on the subject "Millions Now Living Will Never Die."

The speaker in frequent references to Biblical authority held strict interest of his audience while he discussed the restoration of man. He said in part:

"The regeneration of the human race has been the hope of Christians for centuries, which hope is based upon God's promises. To Abraham he said: 'In thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed.' This promised blessing is life everlasting.

"Millions of people now living on earth reasonably expect, in the ordinary course of events, to live ten or fifteen years. Those living in 1925 and thereafter, coming to a knowledge of the truth and being obedient to this message of truth, will be gradually restored to perfection of body and mind and will live on the earth forever in a state of happiness. The earth will gradually be improved, the deserts made productive, the waste places inhabited, and the whole world become a habitation sufficient to support the entire human race with abundance.

"The seed of Abraham according to the promise consists of Christ, Jesus the head and the church his body. These are the ones who have been selected from amongst men from Pentecost until Christ's second coming. These are the ones who are properly designated as Christians, and whose eternal dwelling-place shall be in heaven; and through this class the blessing shall be extended, according to God's promise, to all the families of the earth.

"Jesus declared that this message of the kingdom shall, at the end of the world, be preached unto all nations for a witness, and then the end of the world will be complete. This is a message of comfort because it announces the end of the present unrighteous order, the incoming kingdom of peace, justice and righteousness, and the time for the giving of life everlasting to the obedient ones of earth.

NORMAL NOTES

School is again in full swing after changing from the fall to winter terms. All classes are well organized and are taking up work for the new semester without loss of time. Already a good showing is being made and enrollment is up to standard.

Ira Ramsey of Atwood, Okla., is among new students to enroll this term.

Bernice Catron, who has not been in school for several weeks on account of illness, is reported to be improving. She will probably be in school again in a few weeks.

Prof. B. A. Pratt, former head of the agriculture department of the Normal school, was in the city last week visiting his family and friends. He was also attending the teachers convention several days ago. He seems highly pleased with his new work at Stillwater and reports are favorable from the state agent for girls and boys club work.

The Phi Beta girls gave an informal tea in the reception room last Thursday afternoon, honoring Mrs. Lissie Mae Bolton Howard. The club presented Mrs. Howard with a silver gravy ladle. An enjoyable afternoon was spent.

A class in household management composed of teachers in the city schools, is among the new classes of the winter term. The class meets each Monday and Wednesday and discusses all phases of the work for a period of two hours. Miss Alice Francisco is head of the class which is conducted at her home. Rose Elfin, Josephine Purvine, Beatrice Craig, Miskel Sloan, Willie Thompson, Miss Barber, Mrs. Lena Adair and Mrs. Belcher are enrolled.

A late report from the Normal school today was to the effect that a total enrollment of 690 for the year had been registered up to noon today. This leaves a total of about 590 in school at present, as several of those enrolled last term have dropped out to teach the winter months.

The Senior class is making plans for a carnival to be given at the Normal school next Friday.

Coach M. Z. Thompson reports that the equipment for the basketball team has been ordered and as soon as it arrives he will put the men coming out for basketball to work. A lot of good material is available for the team this year.

Five of last year's men are back; three of them played regularly on the team. Many new men have enrolled and the outlook is favorable for a good season. Hopes of the school's athletic department lie in the success of the caging squad this year, according to some opinions.

LABOR TROUBLE.

By GRACE R. OLIN.

"I sent for you, Betty," said Mr. Horace Tremont, leaning back in his chair and looking very fierce indeed. "I sent for you, because we might as well thrash this thing out now, as any time."

Betty studied her slim silken clad ankles and neat pumps critically, and suppressed a yawn gracefully. "Just what have I done, father, to add to your worries?" she asked innocently.

"It isn't what you have done, it's what you are doing. Now, Betty, let's be done with beating around the bush, and get down to business; my time is valuable."

"So is mine, father," Betty glanced at the little gold watch. "Twenty minutes more, exactly, and I have an engagement for luncheon."

"In that case," answered Mr. Horace Tremont, biting the end off his cigar a trifle viciously, "we'll come straight to the point. It's about young Preston. Upon your recommendation and because of your affiliation in Red Cross work, I engaged Preston as my private secretary. So far, all well and good. Then, without asking my approval, my daughter allows my private secretary to make love to her, which is neither well nor good."

"They dine, dance, auto and swim together, under my very nose, and expect to get away with it."

"Now comes Harkins, in the opposite building, with a story. Young Preston is making love to my daughter, he says, that he may back in the sunshine of luxury via my money."

"Who is he?" asks someone else. "Tis funny," insists another, "Betty doesn't care to introduce him," and so it goes. Who is he? I question also. And why does a thirty-five dollar a week secretary make advances to my daughter?"

"Mr. Harkins offered Mr. Preston ten dollars more a week if he would come to him, did you know that?" asked Betty, spiritedly.

"Which only strengthens my argument," answered Mr. Horace Tremont, grimly. "Mr. Harkins has no charming daughter to assist him in finally getting in soft, and there you are."

"Dad, there is no idea of 'getting in soft' in Mr. Preston's head, I assure you."

"Betty," Mr. Horace Tremont leaned forward and spoke almost patiently. "I've been in business now for thirty years, and I guess I'm as shrewd as they come."

"Now, you think this young fellow is deeply in love with you just for your own charming self, and I think he's a fortune hunter. Think it over. Hasn't your dad's judgment a right to count?"

"I have inherited a great many traits from you, I imagine, father." She raised serene blue eyes to his.

The man at the desk opposite her scowled reproachfully.

"If you please, we'll stick to business," he said.

"But we are sticking to business," Betty dimpled ever so charmingly. "I encouraged being made love to by Will?"

"Will?" fairly roared her father. "So it's reached that stage, has it?"

"You see, 'Will' is much too austere and formal, so I generally make it 'Billy.'"

"Tell Mr. Preston I want to see him," Mr. Tremont told the office boy who answered his ring.

"Hello, Billy," called Betty cheerily, as a tall young man entered the sanctum and closed the door after him.

"Why, hello, dear," the young man answered, eagerly.

"Just a minute, Preston," Mr. Tremont halted him with a gesture. "For the first time in my career there is labor trouble in my office."

"Just what do you mean by that, sir?" asked the young man, respectfully.

"Just what I said—labor trouble. I engage a secretary to labor for my best interests and there is no end of trouble over it. He wins my confidence and then, behind my back, makes love to my daughter. Wouldn't you call that labor trouble?"

"Mr. Tremont," said Preston "you and Garrett Bowdoin were once good friends and later bitter enemies. Everybody in town knows of your absurd quarrel and the stubbornness on both sides to make up."

"When Betty and I met we thought if I could establish myself in your good graces, as she has already done in Garrett Bowdoin's eyes, all would be well. You see, Mr. Tremont, I am Garrett Bowdoin's nephew and sole heir."

"Garrett," they heard Tremont say over the phone, "I've been an old dub, but will you forget it and come over to dinner and play checkers as you used to do?"

"The labor trouble being settled," said Betty, demurely, "we can keep our luncheon engagement, can't we, dad?"

Her father's arm drew her close for a moment.

"Billy," he called quite familiarly to a tall young man with broad shoulders and black hair, his manner most dignified, but his eyes twinkling. "Billy, what do you consider the proper way to settle labor trouble?"

Young Preston's strong, brown hand reached out until a soft, little white hand nestled tenderly in his own. And then, his keen, dark eyes smiling into the shy blue ones uplifted to his, he answered:

"A union."

Earth Has No Molten Center

Eminent Geologist Declares

In New Theory As to Origin

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—New doctrines of geology, based on a new theory of the origin of the earth, were outlined to the National Academy of Sciences here today by Prof. Thomas C. Chamberlain, emeritus head of the department of geology of the University of Chicago.

Emphasizing the revolutionary notions of the earth as a planet, which have largely gone unnoticed in geology, Prof. Chamberlain declared that they were "some thousands of times greater than the more tangible vibratory energies" such as light, heat and sound.

Discarding the old view of the nebular hypothesis that the interior of the earth is molten, Prof. Chamberlain told the Academy that it was solid.

Advances New Idea. Prof. Chamberlain, who is one of the world's foremost geologists, presented two papers: "The Contrast of Types of Earth-Energy and Their Relation Values," and "The Path Taken by Energy in the Earth's Compression of the Earth." Prof. Chamberlain called attention to the fact that the older studies of the earth related chiefly to its substance and that recently attention has turned more largely to its energies.

He pointed out that formerly it was supposed that the earth was once in a gaseous state and that it condensed from this into a molten globe. Its surface configuration and its deformation were assigned to cooling. The studies of the earth's energy and momentum, however, revealed serious difficulties in making such a history fit the facts disclosed by later investigation. Dr. Chamberlain abandoned the old view some twenty years ago and offered a new view known as the planetesimal hypothesis. Under this view the earth was built up very slowly by gathering in minute bodies whose energies and momenta were of the same sort as that of the planets into which they are gathered and hence they met the old difficulties. The new view, however, makes it necessary to recast many of the old doctrines of geology to bring them into accord with the new basis. Dr. Chamberlain has been at work upon this for several years.

His first paper today brought out the "remarkable preponderance of the constructive revolutionary energies over the agitative vibratory energies."

"This appears to have escaped attention," Prof. Chamberlain said, "because the former are so singularly unobtrusive. The latter, though much inferior in real value, are very demonstrative and have had the lion's share of attention."

Atoms Revolve. "The revolutionary motions of the earth as a planet and the similar motions now believed to be essential features of the atoms, largely escape ordinary notice, while the vibrator actions, such as sound, heat, light, the X-rays, etc., make themselves felt very keenly, especially if these are at all intense. "We are so constituted that we are sensitive to these agitative energies, but not to the other type. Our sense impressions need therefore to be rectified."

By estimates of the real values of the two types, Dr. Chamberlain showed that the unobtrusive revolutionary energies connected with the earth are some thousands of times greater than the more tangible vibratory energies. The two kinds, however, co-operate with one another and are mutually interchangeable.

Dr. Chamberlain's second paper related to the self-compression of the earth. Under the new view, this is merely the pulling together of a solid body by its own attraction. The earth grows more and more solid as the work goes on, he said. Much of the energy goes to make up more compact and more resistant structures.

Some, however, goes to liquify the more liquifiable substances, but these are squeezed out about as fast as they reach squeezable volumes. They thus leave the interior solid.

32 Years of Age and Leader of

Million Fighting Americans

Record of New Legion Official

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 11.—(Special)—Thirty-two years old and the leader of a million fighting Americans. That's the record of Hanford MacNider of Mason City, Iowa, the new national commander of the American Legion elected at the convention at Kansas City on November 3.

Following his election by acclamation MacNider said: "You know that the strength of the Legion is in the men you represent in your posts at home, not in the national headquarters. There is where the Legion is and there is where we shall try to reach. We must build this Legion of ours so big, so fine, so strong, keep it so clean and straight and American that when we ask for things for the ex-service man, for the disabled men and for those who are financially disabled, our communities will say: 'If the Legion is for it we are for it.' For that service and with a pledge to you of every economy and all measures possible for constructive progress, I stand at your command."

Vice-commanders elected were H. Nelson Jackson, Burlington, Vt.; George L. Berry of Tennessee; Raymond O. Brackett of Massachusetts; John A. McCormick of Colorado; and Charles M. Kendrick of California. Rev. A. E. Blackman of Kansas, was elected national chaplain. Mrs. Lowell Hobard of Milford, Ohio, was selected as national president of the women's auxiliary.

New Orleans Next. New Orleans won the next convention of the Legion on a guarantee of $100,000 for entertainment of the war veterans.

The presence of the distinguished military leaders—Foch, Jacques, Diaz, Beatty and Pershing—brought the gaze of the world on the Legion's great meeting. Their addresses in the convention started the Legionnaires' enthusiasm and a rapid ascent.

At the opening session the Legion men honored their late commander, F. W. Galbreath Jr., with a memorial service. John G. Emery, retiring commander, led off a roar of applause when he declared that the people of the United States demand an adjustment of the economic balance between the man who went to war and the man who did not.

Financial and numerical growth of the Legion was shown in the annual report of Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant. He showed that 1,050 new posts have been formed in the past year.

The reception for Foch when 25,000 men in the navy blue and olive drab, silhouetted by red fire, stood on the steps of Kansas City's new $2,500,000 war memorial in the Union Station plaza waving their arms, was a dazzling spectacle.

More than 5,000 members of the Legion and auxiliary from Oklahoma arrived in Kansas City on Sunday night preceding the convention. Decked with Indian war bonnets and accompanied by six bands the Oklahoma delegation appeared to predominate on the streets in the hotel lobbies and at various entertainments throughout the convention. The Oklahoma section of the parade headed by native Indians in full regalia caused unusual comment and attention.

Kansas City had never seen such a crowd as filled its streets during the convention. It was estimated that more than a quarter of a million persons saw the Legion parade in which 50,000 men from every state in the union marched twice about the business section of the city and before the military heads of the allied nations and the governors of twelve states.

OKLAHOMA IS FIFTH

IN PARK ATTENDANCE

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 14.—Rocky Mountain National Park led all other national parks in 1921 with an attendance of 273,737 persons, and Nebraska, in turn, was first among the states, with 2,196 autos containing 9,075 passengers. All states were represented.

Kansas was second, with 1721 cars and 7,035 people; Missouri third, with 789 cars containing 3,155 persons; Iowa fourth, with 706 cars and 2,939 persons; Oklahoma fifth, with 667 cars containing 2,764 persons, and Texas sixth, with 445 cars and 1,785 passengers. Colorado is credited with 2,327 autos containing 8,736 persons; however, many of the passengers were rail travelers from the foregoing states who went from Denver in the cars of friends or relatives.

Rocky Mountain Park had 100,573 more persons than the combined total registration of 173,164 visitors for Yellowstone and Yosemite National Parks, and recorded an increase of 32,771 persons over its 1920 patronage.

A nation-wide campaign for a greater appreciation of the people's playgrounds will be instituted this winter by the Denver tourist bureau, through picture and story, in anticipation of next year's travel.

LIVED YEARS ON

BREAD AND MILK

Mrs. H. P. Barrett, of Republic, suburb of Birmingham, Ala., gives the facts of her remarkable experience with Tanlac as follows:

"During the past fourteen years I have spent more than one thousand dollars trying to get rid of a complaint that was gradually sapping my strength, but until I got hold of Tanlac nothing helped me. For the past four years I have lived almost entirely on milk and bread, and finally even that went against me."

"Before I had finished the first bottle of Tanlac I got so I could eat anything, and I certainly bless the day I first got the medicine for I believe it has added years to my life. The people in my neighborhood were so surprised at the change in me that fourteen of them by actual count are now taking Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Ada by M. A. Waits and all leading druggists. (adv)

A MIDNIGHT TEST

By LYDIA LION ROBERTS.

© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Is it because of someone else?" asked Austin, his gray eyes soberly watching the troubled face of the girl sitting opposite him.

"Honestly, I don't know," insisted Constance, her brown eyes lifted to his wistful, searching gaze. "I just don't feel sure, Austin, and I cannot go any further until I do."

"You have changed since George Drew came into our set," pondered the young man, and started as a flush covered the small, piquant face of his sweetheart.

"Has he—did he—" Austin stammered, and waited.

"Listen, Austin; I have always liked you better than anyone and thought once—well, I thought I should know just what to answer you when the time came. But now—I have answered you—I do not know."

"Constance, I know you love me; you are disturbed by—the other one because he is different. He is jolly where I am quiet, he is teasing and full of high spirits where I am just patient and persevering. Yet you rely on my strength."

Constance smiled slightly at the memory of the days of curls and many troubles that Austin had smoothed away for her.

"It's all right, comrade, think it over and let me know as soon as you can. It isn't much fun watching your best girl being vamped by another male star."

"Oh dear! I'm so sorry, Austin, you are so good to me that I feel like a wretch, but I can't decide yet. Mother and I are going to New York tomorrow night to stay a few days while dad finishes his business. Perhaps I'll know. How does one ever know enough to be sure for years and years? But I'll try."

Austin said good-by cheerfully, but his heart was heavy as he walked back to his home.

Over and over through the next day Constance tried to decide her problem. "I wish I had never seen George," she thought, "and then I would have married Austin."

She was glad when it was time to go on the boat, for "maybe distance will help" was her last thought before she drifted to sleep with the swish of the ocean and the throb of the engines as music to her ears.

Out of a sound sleep she heard a voice calling her name and woke startled to find her mother clinging to the berth in fright and pain.

"One of my heart attacks, Constance, hurry," she gasped, and the girl tumbled out of bed and hastily gave the medicine, making her mother as comfortable as possible. An hour passed, with Constance watching every breath and giving medicine at intervals. Slowly the breath came a little easier and finally her mother spoke. "Just as soon as I can get up let us go on deck," she pleaded. "I am stifled here."

Constance looked at her watch as she carefully aided her mother's shaky footsteps through the boat to the deck. They took chairs and leaned back in a secluded corner, utterly alone. Soon her mother slept and Constance relaxed a little. She looked across the black, restless water and suddenly she thought of the miles that separated her from home.

"I might never see it again," she murmured. "I might never see the merry face of George or the quiet strength of Austin. I might never marry either one—the problem would be solved. No! I must go to him and hear him speak."

She leaned forward, straining her eyes to look across the spaces. "Oh, if he were only here now! Why, how simple it is after all—it is the one you turn to when there's danger or sorrow, it's the one you love so much that you feel as big as the sky and the ocean. How silly of me not to know before—it is a sure way."

In the early mail a letter sped straight to the office of a young man, who sat down suddenly and exclaimed, "Thank the fates!" when he read it, while his eyes sparkled and his mouth creased in one large, long smile.

He read again the magic words, "Take a girl and put her on a boat when she has been frightened by the sickness of a dear one; put a dark, huge sky above, and a tossing, black ocean below, have the girl miles away from anyone she knows, utterly alone and at midnight. Result—the girl will know who is the only one she can love till the stars grow cold."

A few days later the doorbell rang and Constance hurried to the door of her aunt's house, where she was staying with her mother. Two eager arms seized her and two eyes looked deep into her heart as she spoke her surprise.

"Oh, I wanted you to come! And let's never be separated again, Austin!"

Why They Wear Bow Ties.

The haberdashery clerk grinned with sympathy as his customer made his way about the shop. Then he turned to another well-known patron who was waiting for his order. "Know why it is that newly married men always buy bow neckties?" he asked. "No? Well it's because they like to have their sweet young wives tie 'em in the morning. Married men don't buy them as often. Sure, I know! I was a bridegroom myself once."

NAVAL RIVALS TO

ANSWER IN MEET

United States, Britain or Japan Held Responsible For Disarmament.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Either the United States, Great Britain or Japan or a combination of two of them, must answer if the armament limitation conference fails in results, Senator Borah, of Idaho, declared tonight in an address before a disarmament meeting of the Religious Society of Friends.

These three nations were engaged in a naval race, Senator Borah asserted, which was not understood by the people who are bearing the tax burdens.

"The situation with reference to naval armaments," he said, "is wholly within their power. No other nation can or proposes to seek the mastery of the sea. These three powers, or some one or two of them, will have to bear the responsibility if this conference fails to solve the question of naval armaments. It is up to them to adjust the problem in harmony with the world's peace. They can neither avoid the responsibility nor divide it with the other powers. These governments must answer to their people for the result of the conference in respect to this question."

The peoples of these powers, Senator Borah said that "We are really and do not desire war. It is up to their statesmen, he added, to see that the naval race is ended and its tax burdens lifted."

"If the 300,000,000 people of the United States, Great Britain and Japan could have their voices heard and heeded," he said, "they would put an end to this naval race promptly and effectively."

War Actually Exists. Citing the naval building programs of the three sea powers, Senator Borah said that "We are really in a sense in a state of war."

"Why?" he asked. "The expectant millions in all these different countries want to know why. We are as a matter of fact at war with countries against whom we have not declared war and against whom we have no enmity. In anxiety, in financial distress, many of them in misery, all of them are praying for peace and want to know why. Will this conference terminate it? If not why not?"

The people, Senator Borah added, were ready for "a new dispensation, a new program, a new political creed." They are not responsible for war and warlike preparations, he asserted, adding that such responsibility was at the door of "bureaucrats" and diplomats.

If every battleship and submarine were sunk, he continued, and no more built, the people would be "more secure, more contented and more prosperous by far than they are now." Battleships, he said, should "go" and the submarine be destroyed.

"This much at least," the Senator declared, "ought to be done in the name of peace and civilization."

Unless battleships shall be banned, Mr. Borah asserted, there could be only a truce in warfare, while the submarine had been taboo by the civilized world before the recent war.

All the barbarous and brutal destructive elements developed during the world war, Senator Borah said, were being preserved and perfected to make them "more effective, more destructive and more efficient for the cause of human suffering and the taking of human lives."

"Will the Washington conference break this spell of war?" he asked. "Will it relieve us from the creed of brute force and turn the world from the road which is leading straight to bankruptcy and to barbarism? Let us have faith in the outcome."

FEW FOLKS HAVE

GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of the ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

© Western Newspaper Union.

CAPT. JACK CRAWFORD, THE SCOUT WHO WROTE POETRY

When a bit of sunshine hits ye
After passin' of a cloud,
When a fit of laughter gits ye
An' yer spine is feelin' proud,
Don't forget to up and fling it
At a soul that's feelin' blue,
For the mint that ye sling it
It's a boomerang to you.

That was the philosophy of Capt. Jack Crawford, the poet-scout. A poet and a scout! A strange combination, but he excelled as both. John Wallace Crawford was an Irish boy who came to this country shortly before the Civil war began and enlisted in the Union army when he was only sixteen years old. While lying in a hospital, a sister of mercy taught him to read and write.

After the war Crawford drifted West and became a miner in the Black Hills of South Dakota. When the Black Hills rangers were organized to protect the miners from hostile Sioux and bands of highway robbers, Jack was chosen chief. In one fight he killed three desperadoes.

At the outbreak of the Sioux war in 1876 Captain Jack enlisted as a scout and rose to the position of chief of scouts for the Fifth cavalry. After the battle of Slim Buttes, S. D., where Chief American Horse was killed, Captain Jack, who was also correspondent for the New York Herald, gave the world the first story of this fight. Crawford rode to Fort Laramie, 350 miles away, in three days and a half, outriding five relays of couriers, but he killed two horses doing it.

During the Apache wars in Arizona Crawford was again in the saddle as a scout for Gen. Edward Hatch. In 1881 he took the trail of the notorious chief, Victorio, and after a scout of 16 days, located his camp in the Candelaria mountains in Mexico. Captain Jack then made another remarkable ride to the nearest post. As a result of his news, Victorio's camp was attacked by Mexican troops and the old chief and many of his warriors were killed.

When the Indian wars were over, Captain Jack began writing down the verses which he had recited to his comrades around many a campfire on the Indian campaigns. He went on the lecture platform and in a short time the "Poet-Scout" was one of the best-known of the old-time scouts in the country, second only to his old comrade of the Fifth cavalry, Buffalo Bill. In a little over a month after Buffalo Bill's death, Captain Jack followed him on the Long Trail. He died in New York February 28, 1917.

BELGRADE, Nov. 14.—Jugo-Slavia cannot accept the decision of the allied council of ambassadors in limiting the boundary between Jugo-Slavia and Albania, the cabinet decided at a meeting last night. A note to this effect will be sent to the allies.

It is stated in official circles here that the Jugo-Slavia troops have not advanced beyond the legitimate boundary of Serbia. The council of ambassadors recently sent a note to the Jugo-Slavia government, demanding the immediate withdrawal of its troops from the territory within the limits provided by the council.

The newspapers are unanimous in declaring the council's decision unjust and urged strong opposition to further meetings of consultation. Thirty thousand troops are believed to be advancing towards the Serbian border.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Secretary Weeks, using a gavel made of wood taken from the White House when it was rebuilt more than a hundred years ago, will officiate today at the laying of the corner stone for the new victory memorial here. The structure is to be erected a few blocks from the capitol on a plot given by congress. Its final cost, according to estimates, will be $10,000,000 of which more than $1,000,000 has been raised.

Speakers for the occasion will be Pershing and General Countz, chief of naval operations.

After greeting each other, the "big five" went into the director's rooms, on the second floor, accompanied by the technical group for each power and the deliberations began.

State Will Receive $2,112,000 in Road Material From War

About $150,000,000 worth of surplus war materials, turned over by the war department to the department of agriculture, will be distributed at once through the Bureau of public roads to the various states of the union, for road building purposes, according to word that has just been received here.

Out of this amount Oklahoma has been assigned a quota of $2,112,000. Under the Wadsworth-Kahn bill this surplus war material is sent to the state with the sole provision that it be used only for road building purposes. A vast accumulation of machinery, equipment, and motor vehicles as well as supplies of various kinds that was to have been used in France has been diverted to a useful peace-time purpose. Included in the supplies to be distributed are 27,198 motor vehicles, mostly trucks; 172 locomotives of various sizes; 25,000 tons of rails; more than 4,500,000 pounds of powder and nearly 10,000 tons of TNT.

DAIRY FACTS

RECORDS OF GREAT BENEFIT

Much Valuable Information on Relations Between Milk and Butterfat Production.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Tabulation of the yearly records of 38,532 cow-testing association cows has brought to light much valuable information on the relations between milk and butterfat production, butterfat test, income over cost of feed, and other factors, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The average milk production per cow was 5,980 pounds; butterfat, 246 pounds; butterfat test, 4.11 per cent; income over cost of feed, $55.69; returns for $1 expended for feed, $2.11.

The records show that in those associations where the work has been continued for a long period the production has generally increased from year to year. As production increased, the income over cost of feed increased rapidly, and for each increase of 50 pounds in butterfat there was an increase of $15 in income over cost of feed.

Cows that freshened in the fall produced more milk and butterfat and greater average income over cost of feed than those which freshened in the spring or summer. Large cows excelled small cows of the same breed in production of milk and butterfat and in income over cost of feed. As the butterfat test increased, the average production of butterfat advanced and the average production of milk declined.

These records also indicate that cows remain in the herd an average of about 4.7 years.

BETTER-STOCK CAMPAIGN AID

Poster issued by Department of Agriculture Illustrates Value of Good Dairy Cows.

"For the Children's Sake" is the title of an attractive poster just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, to be used in its better-stock campaign. The poster shows two cows, each surrounded by pictures of healthy children. Good milk, it is well known, is a health-giving food for children, but scrub cows do not give enough milk to feed many children. One of the animals shown on the poster is a scrub cow which produced about five quarts of milk a day—enough to supply the five children who are grouped about her. The other cow is a purebred, which gave a daily yield of 20 quarts—enough to feed the 20 children surrounding her.

"A good dairy cow," says the poster, "produces enough to feed about twenty children a quart of milk a day. An ordinary cow produces enough to feed about five children a quart a day. Every quart of milk contains health and a smile for some baby."

CORN ALONE FOR MILK COWS

It Can Be Used to Better Advantage With Such Feeds as Bran, Meal and Legumes.

With well-filled corn cribs on many farms, and relatively low prices now in effect, the United States Department of Agriculture believes it is time to correct the impression that corn is not good feed for milk cows. Of course, corn cannot be fed alone, as its function is to supply heat, energy, and fat, rather than such elements as make up bone, muscle and the casein in milk. But it can be used to advantage along with such feeds as bran, linseed, meal, or cottonseed meal. Bran lightens and helps to balance the ration. Alfalfa or clover is usually fed with corn to supply protein.

COW IS EFFICIENT MACHINE

Animal of Big Value in Converting Farm-Grown Feeds Into High-Priced Products.

The dairy cow, of all farm animals, is our most efficient machine for converting farm-grown feeds into concentrated, high-priced food products, and therefore is entitled to the best of care. She is thin in flesh and naturally more susceptible to cold than most other classes of farm stock. If she is compelled to fortify herself against cold, snow, sleet and rain, she must, of course, convert a greater proportion of her feed into heat with which to keep up body temperature, and as a result she becomes less efficient for milk production.

Coal costs $14 to $15 per ton in addition to the hauling from the station, while the farmers receive but $8.50 per ton for corn, which they must also haul to the station.

PROGRAM FOR HEALTH WEEK

Each Day Set for Special Observance and to Stimulate Phase of Health.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 14.—(Special)—The complete program for Oklahoma Health Week to be conducted by the Oklahoma Public Health association was announced here yesterday by Jules Schevitz, general secretary of the association. The program by days follows:

Sunday, December 4—Tuberculosis Sunday.
Monday, December 5—Infant Welfare.
Tuesday, December 6—School and Child Health.
Wednesday, December 7—Civic Health.
Thursday, December 8—Worker's Health.
Friday, December 9—Soldiers' Health.

On Tuberculosis Sunday ministers in all parts of the state will preach on the menace of tuberculosis and disease. Special services will be held in churches and Sunday Schools and special prayers will be read. The health of the child, pre-natal care, the lesson of infant mortality will be emphasized on Monday, Schevitz said.

Schools in all districts of the state will hold special health exercises Tuesdays sponsored by H. H. Wilson, state superintendent. Programs will include lessons on simple health rules, health plays and pageants, the preparation of health essays, and talks from doctors and nurses. Wednesday is to be Civic Health Day, on which faults in sewerage and water systems and other unsanitary conditions will be stressed and reports submitted by specially named civic health committees and city and county physicians.

The health of the working man will be the consideration for Thursday, December 8, labor unions, and individuals, both employee and employer being asked to review the health conditions in their plants or industries and lay plans to improve them.

The economic waste from sickness will be pointed out. The all-important question of soldier health will be brought into the public eye on Friday. The need for further soldier hospital provision and quick attention for individual cases is to be the chief feature to be emphasized on that day.

On Saturday, the final day of the week, public attention is to be focused on the 1921 Tuberculosis Christmas seal sale, conducted by the Oklahoma Public Health association, funds from which will be used in the fight for all kinds of better health. In many cities booth sale of the seals will be started for the first time on that day. Co-operation of local business and industrial leaders will be asked in making Seal Sale Saturday the big determining factor of the success of the 1921 sale, according to Schevitz.

Publicity on Parley Is Leading Question In Today's Sessions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Publicity on the proceedings of the armament conference was among the questions at today's meeting of the heads of the delegations.

The plan submitted by the American delegation provides that if the entire proceedings of the conference is not made public, the right should be provided for any delegation to make public a session in which they wished to bring out certain points should the delegation desiring publicity ask for it. In this case, an open session would be declared by the conference.

Secretary Hughes, it appears, has outlined the suggestion to the heads of the various delegations and they met today knowing in advance the American ideas.

The only perfect man in the world is the one your wife once refused to marry.

HEADQUARTERS OUTFIT READY FOR RECRUITS

Announcement was made today that all arrangements are complete for the recruiting of 50 men necessary for the headquarters battalion of the Oklahoma National Guard to be stationed here. Enlistment of men will be at the Dandridge & Kerr office in the Shaw building. Those who are interested should either go to that office or see Roy Adair or Jim Hodges, both of whom will be officers in the company.

This battalion will be for specialized work. Those who enlist in it will be given an opportunity to get training that is not afforded in any other branch of the state guard. Those desiring information will be able to get it by calling at enlistment headquarters. Recruits are wanted at once.

U.S. NAVAL PROGRAM WILL NOT BE CEASED

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The American naval construction program, now proceeding at half speed because of reduced appropriations, will not be stopped by the navy department unless a definite international agreement is reached formally, or except on the direction of congress, it was stated today by Secretary Denby.

The superdreadnaught West Virginia will be launched Saturday at Newport News as arranged, it was said at the department and work on the other 28 surface ships and 40 submarines now building will go forward.

While some sentiment exists in congress for the immediate cessation of the naval construction, the saving of considerable expense thereby, while it might amount to several million dollars, depends on the duration of the armament conference. This would be but a "drop in the bucket" of the naval construction funds saved in event of a complete stoppage, naval experts say.

They report that the work of the Ada boys did much to stop the ravages of the flames, and they want to express their thanks publicly through the Ada News.

ARBUCKLE TRIAL TO OPEN IN HIGH COURT

slaughter also was returned against Arbuckle, although District Attorney Matthew A. Brady chose to try the defendant on the police court hearing. The coroner's jury charged him with manslaughter.

Arbuckle's arrest later by prohibition officials on a charge of illegal possession of liquor was another incident in the case resulting from an investigation which the prohibition authorities laid before the federal grand jury. The liquor at the party was brought from Canada by a bootleg ring which operated on a large scale, officials said.

Gavin McNab, a prominent San Francisco attorney, is chief counsel for Arbuckle. He was retained in motion picture interests to handle the defense.

MEMORIAL FILLS COLONIAL PLANS

Harding Dedicates Victory Structure As Answer To Washington's Prayer.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Speaking at the exercises following the laying of the corner stone for the new victory memorial, President Harding dedicated that structure as a "gathering place for Americans, where American minds began the fulfillment of one of the striking provisions in the last will of George Washington, which set aside a bequest for the founding of an institution to advance learning, culture and a proper understanding of right principals in government."

The president's address was confined largely to an analysis of the well known attributes of the first president, which, he said, made Washington, "on his own principal personal side, a very model of good citizenship."

"Within a brief century and a half," the president said in conclusion, "the American people under Washington's inspiration have created a great nation, adding to the liberty of opportunity and we may hope, afforded a helpful example to the world. It has not been accomplished without heavy sacrifices. At a fearful cost we had to wipe out an ambiguity in constitution and re-establish union where disunion threatened. In a conflict well-nigh world wide we were called to draw the sword for humanity and relief of the oppressed. Very recently we had cause to speak tribute to those who sacrificed themselves in that struggle for civilization's preservation. We cannot often or too earnestly repeat that tribute, and we consecrate this institution as a memorial and a shrine which is a reminder to all the future of the services and sacrifices of our heroes of the world war."

JAPANESE DELEGATE SAYS U. S. PLAN IS DRASTIC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The American armament limitation plan as outlined to the armament conference by Secretary Hughes was described by Admiral Baron Kato of the Japanese delegation as very drastic, but a good proposal to have been placed before the conference.

Nowadays new comforts and conveniences slip into our lives almost without our realizing it. We are liable to be rather matter-of-fact about it all.
